Consider the impact of generational practices and beliefs.

Elizabeth, Febb's mother, could never have dreamed of what she began. Do you think this way of thinking began with Elizabeth or do you think her mother and her mother's mother played a part?

Harry, as a young and rising legislature, changed his vote in favor of women's suffrage movement, even at the cost of social or professional consequences. Consider what some of the domino effects may have been.

The Women's Suffrage Movement played a huge role in social circles. As part of the movement, people dawned yellow roses (pro-suffrage) or red roses (anti-suffrage) in their daily lives to share their stance.

Consider what this might have meant to the social climate at the time.

Consider the states that were the first to pass women's suffrage movement. Why do you think the western states were the first to allow women to vote as early as 1913?

Washington 1910

Montana 1914
